PAP1 Mission Statement

My mission is to acquire the skills and knowledge necessary to obtain a career in the mobile development industry. I will achieve this by completing the required courses that allow for me to graduate from Full Sail University with a degree in Mobile Development. Each assignment I submit, test I take, and project I complete will be the result of applying my potential to it's fullest extent. My motivation is the betterment of my life through the achievement of graduating from college and obtaining a career that I love. The strict dedication I have for this goal drives me to do the absolute best in every task that leads me to my desired result. No threat or obstacle shall hinder the obtainment of my life's goal for I am committed, passionate, and willing to adapt!

TEM Mission Statement

My mission is to obtain a Mobile Development Bachelor of Science Degree from Full Sail University within the next 28 months. I will be successful in acquiring this degree through commitment, determination, and organization skills developed as a result of recent coursework. My commitment to this goal will grow exponentially as I continue to gather knowledge of my industry and keep myself informed of the skillsets employers require. The determination I have within myself will drive my dedication to successfully submit all projects and assignments to their fullest potential. Organization with an emphasis on the planning of how and when I will complete assigned coursework will guarantee the success of my goal to obtain this degree. With these core values and the willingness to be open-minded to new ideas, I will be an active member in the mobile development community within the projected timeframe
